Do generic drugs really work as well as name brands?

Yes. Even though they may look different, generics have the same key ingredients as their brand-name counterparts, and often cost less. Many generic drugs are even made in the same manufacturing plants as the brand-name version. The FDA's Office of Generic Drugs follows a rigorous review process to make sure that a brand-name medication and its proposed generic equivalent:

- Contain the same active/key ingredient;
- Have the same strength;
- Use the same dosage form (for instance, a tablet, capsule, or liquid); and
- Use the same route of administration (for instance, oral, topical, or injectable).

Talk to your doctor about whether a generic medication is right for you.
